November 1, 2021

Dear City Council,

We are delighted to share the Sanford Equity Task Force Recommendations in response to your charge to serve. First of all, we would like to say it has been a pleasure for us to serve our community. Although this has been a time of historic challenge for our city amidst a global pandemic, we have been committed and dedicated to our assignment.

We spent twelve months engaged in a process of collaborative research and visioning from September 2020 to September 2021. We have had numerous committee and sub-committee meetings. We have learned from knowledgeable people in community organizations, businesses, City and County departments, and educational institutions. We have also sought the expertise of more than twenty experts to inform our work.

In this report and action plan, we provide a framework and recommendations for addressing equity and moving toward practical solutions. Specifically, we have identified findings and recommendations centered around housing and home ownership, wages and income, criminal justice and law enforcement, leadership and inclusion, health, education, communication, and community responsibility.

This report comes from a group of people that have a heart for their community. We acknowledge that building a more equitable City is an ever evolving, ongoing process, and we are committed to continuing this work beyond our one-year charge as Task Force members. We thank you for your consideration of these recommendations and look forward to collaborating with you to bring these ideas to fruition and make Sanford a more equitable place.

Sincerely,

The Sanford Equity Task Force
“The Sanford Equity Task Force Findings and Recommendations” begins with a history and description of the process. The following sections are organized around six key areas of concern: Communication and Community Responsibility, Criminal Justice, Education, Health, Housing and Home Ownership, Leadership and Inclusion, and Wages and Income.

The report includes a section for each area of concern that includes data and background information, recommendations, and a chart with details about how each recommendation can be implemented. Details in the charts include performance measures, partners, resources, and a timeline for each recommended action.

⭐ Stars beside recommendations represent Task Force priorities.

A references page at the end includes hyperlinks and more information about all resources and data cited in the report.
In the summer of 2020, Councilman Buckels discussed equity disparity trends present in Sanford’s underserved communities with City staff, the mayor, Councilman Post and Hannah Gill, director of the Building Integrated Communities (BIC) initiative. This meeting led the City to invite the research staff with the BIC initiative at the Institute for the Study of the Americas at UNC Chapel Hill to compile a preliminary report. In August 2020, a community assessment titled “Equity and well-being in Sanford and Lee County,” provided background data to establish the mandate for the Task Force. The assessment presents an overview of disparities in the region with a focus on poverty, wages, housing, health, and education. The findings, which were prepared in accessible language for public audiences and communicated through the Sanford Herald, underscore persistent inequalities for Black and Latinx/a/o communities. This community assessment was brought before the City Council which then voted unanimously to create an Equity Task Force to collaboratively examine and work to dismantle disparities in the lives of Sanford residents.

After launching the Sanford Equity Initiative and Task Force in September 2020, the City received a $5,000 grant from the Duke Energy Foundation to support the yearlong equity initiative. Sanford resident and leader Bishop Charles Mellette facilitated Task Force convenings with support from UNC BIC team members Hannah Gill, Brianna Gilmore, Daniela Cerón and Pierce Holloway. The City Council appointed 13 Task Force members with expertise related to education, workforce development, criminal justice, health care, social services, economic development, and housing.

The Task Force identified six areas of concern through discussion and by participating in a survey at the beginning of the process (Appendix III). These areas of concern are Communication and Community Responsibility, Criminal Justice, Education, Health, Housing and Home Ownership, Leadership and Inclusion, and Wages and Income. Between October 2020 and May 2021, the Task Force convened eight virtual public meetings and an additional 42 sub-committee meetings to create strategies and recommendations. The Task Force invited 17 community experts (see below) with a deep knowledge of community histories, assets, and areas of concern to inform the work of the Task Force.

COMMUNICATION AND COMMUNITY RESPONSIBILITY

Goal: Build communication networks with underrepresented communities to make City meetings, jobs, leadership positions, and other opportunities and information more accessible.

While many opportunities exist in our City, not everyone has equal access to information or the ability to engage in civic processes. Language barriers, internet connectivity, unfamiliarity with City services and processes, work and childcare demands, and distrust of government are all factors that impact residents’ civic participation.

The Task Force researched strategies for the City of Sanford to build better communication networks and activate civic engagement in historically underrepresented communities.

- The Task Force recommends that the City share meeting information and a monthly news update with partners.
- The Task Force recommends that the City expand communications through utility bill inserts, a bilingual text notification system, and in-person outreach and flyers in neighborhoods, churches, and hair salons.
- The Task Force recommends creating a City guide that is bilingual and available online and in print.
- The Task Force recommends creating an online form on the City website for residents to request language interpretation services at public meetings.

The yellow stars indicate a Task Force priority
Goal #1: Strengthen Community-Police relationships and mental health crisis resources.

Building trust between communities and the police improves public safety. Historically disadvantaged victims of crime may fear the state response more than the behavior that caused their victimization (NC Governor’s Task Force 2020).

Community policing is an approach to law enforcement that builds bridges with local residents, neighborhoods, and organizations “to proactively address the immediate conditions that give rise to public safety issues such as crime, social disorder, and fear of crime” (U.S. Department of Justice - Community Policing Defined 2014).

Community policing techniques such as walking patrols in lieu of driving, collaborations with local partners, and participation in community events equip law enforcement officers with a better understanding of the socio-economic and religious dynamics of a community and provide support for those residents while building trust.

The Task Force also found a need for more mental health crisis training. Criminal justice systems are dealing with a significant increase in the number of people experiencing mental health and/or substance use disorder crises. This public health emergency requires more resources and training for law enforcement, emergency departments and jails.
Goal #2: Invest in youth recreation.

Preventing adverse childhood experiences (ACEs) can provide an opportunity to decrease crime and violence. ACEs increase children’s risk to substance and alcohol abuse, poor educational attainment, and mental health problems (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 2019). Poverty is strongly associated with ACEs.

Youth gain resilience against ACEs when they are connected to caring adults and activities such as mentoring and after-school programs. In addition to providing opportunities for personal growth, skill development, and academic success, after-school programs provide adult supervision between 3:00pm to 6:00pm, when youth crime and violence peaks (CDC, 2019). Mentoring and after-school programs can reduce the prevalence of crime, violence, and other adolescent risk behavior and pave the way for positive outcomes in adulthood (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 2016). The Task Force found that there are not enough opportunities for adolescents aged 12-17 in Sanford and Lee County.

The Task Force recommends creating an accessible Youth Center for recreation and mentoring programs that is in Sloan Park on Bragg Street; Downtown Jonesboro; or the Kendale Shopping Center.

The Task Force recommends joining the Lee County Parks and Recreation Commission and the Sanford City Parks Commission to plan parks for impact in urban, high-density low-income neighborhoods for youth, including adolescents.

Mentoring and after-school programs can reduce the prevalence of crime, violence, and other adolescent risk behavior.
CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Goal #3: Decriminalize poverty

There is a perpetual cycle of devastating outcomes that results from an individual’s inability to pay traffic court fines and fees. By NC law (G.S. 20-24.2), failure to pay leads to license suspension. People who continue driving (to get to a job out of necessity, for example) can receive more serious criminal charges and more fines and fees.

When an individual fails to pay, a judge has the discretion to issue an arrest and a financial bond, which requires that a defendant pay a sum of money before appearing in court or be jailed.

As of February 2021, 3,078 people had suspended licenses because of unpaid traffic fines in Lee County (Appendix 1). 48% of these people are Black, 21.6% are Latino and 26.5% are White. The average length of unpaid tickets is around 8 years (Appendix 1). The Task Force also found that in Lee County, financial bonds account for 78% of bonds issued for misdemeanor charges and 79% of bonds issued for felony charges (UNC School of Government Crime Lab Report 2019).

The Task Force identified the connection between these criminal justice practices and persistent equity issues in the city of Sanford. Not only do driver’s license suspensions and jail time impact jobs; a criminal record impacts future employment opportunities. The Task Force found that Lee County could eliminate traffic court debt, restore driver’s licenses, and release low-risk defendants who cannot pay their bonds.

The Task Force recommends clarifying that all initial applications do not require applicants to disclose prior criminal convictions, but will contain a prominent notice informing applicants that the position may require a background check and unless required by state law, a record of conviction will not automatically exclude you from consideration for employment.

People of color are disproportionately impacted by criminal legal debt and license suspensions.

The yellow stars indicate a Task Force priority
Goal #1: Understand student and family economic disadvantages. Address school disciplinary actions.

Advancing educational equity positively impacts many areas that impact City governance, from workforce development to home ownership to poverty and homelessness. The Task Force found disparities in economically disadvantaged students and post high school education attainment rates. For example in both public high schools, Lee County High School and Southern Lee High School, more than 50% of the students identify as economically disadvantaged (North Carolina School Report Cards 2019-2020).

The Task Force found a need to address suspensions and disciplinary action in schools. Black students in NC public schools are 4.1 times more likely than their white counterparts to receive short-term suspensions, which can increase a child’s involvement with the criminal justice system (Racial Equity Report Card). The recommendations focus on supporting, collaborating, and communicating with the Lee County Schools.

Bachelor Degree Attainment in Sanford by Race & Ethnicity

The Task Force recommends that the City Council invites the Superintendent of the Lee County Schools to provide a report on the issues that minority students face and the schools’ current actions to close educational gaps.

The Task Force recommends that the City organize a State of the Schools public forum with Principals to provide information and answer questions about school discipline rates, poverty, and resource allocation.
Goal #2: Collaborate with Lee County Schools to adopt measures to diversify staff.

Ensuring that school staff represents the demographics of the student body is an important way to equalize opportunities for underrepresented communities. A diverse educator workforce is beneficial to all students, but especially for students of color (Developing a Representative and Inclusive Vision for Education).

The Task Force found that people of color are underrepresented in teaching, administrative, and other staff positions in Lee County Schools. For example, in the 2020-2021 school year, only 15% of school employees were Black, followed by 7% “other” which includes Latinos (NC Statistical Profile). 78% of all employees and 78% of administrators were White (NC Statistical Profile). The Task Force also found that there is a need for more data about the Spanish language ability of school staff.

The Task Force recommends that the City strengthen communication collaboration and outreach with Lee County Schools by maintaining a community contact list and intentionally sharing employment opportunities through that list and online networks which will widen the pool of qualified and diverse candidates.

HEALTH

Goal #1: Expand access to healthcare for underinsured and uninsured populations.

The Task Force health recommendations are intended to guide collaborative efforts with the County, schools and other stakeholders. The health recommendations expand access to local healthcare for underinsured (people without Medicaid) and uninsured populations; expand city and community awareness of addiction and substance abuse; and increase access to free and affordable mental health services.

Transportation is an important factor in accessing health services. The County of Lee Transit Services (COLTS) provides free transportation for people with Medicaid and a $4 one-way fee for the general public within City limits. Transportation outside of the City limits (e.g. to specialists in the Triangle) is $35 round-trip. In recent years, COLTS discontinued scheduled routes that stopped at Pine Village and Thornwood mobile home communities, places identified with a high need of transportation access. Language accessibility is also a challenge; while COLTS has a part-time bilingual employee, Spanish-speaking clients may be referred to a third party.

The Task Force recommends the City work with County partners to create an affordable Community Care Clinic with a Health Liaison/Health Navigator.

The Task Force recommends the City work with COLTS to expand transportation services to health service providers for uninsured and underinsured people. Specific actions include:
1) Reinstate COLTS DASH stops at mobile home communities, such as Dreamland and Pine Village.
2) Establish regular routes that connect low-income communities to Central Carolina Hospital, Walmart pharmacy, the Dialysis Clinic, and other critical services.
3) Reinstate a full-time bilingual dispatcher who can directly speak to clients.
4) Launch an outreach campaign with regular communications on Facebook and in low-income neighborhoods to expand awareness about services.
The Task Force recommends that the City require law enforcement and other first responders to complete sensitivity trainings for interacting with people struggling with drug addiction.

The Task Force recommends that the City collaborate with Lee County Schools to develop age-appropriate training/education curriculum on addiction and substance use for classrooms.

The Task Force recommends that the City collaborate with Lee County Schools and other stakeholders to develop and implement an awareness campaign or education workshops on addiction and substance use for the community.

The Task Force recommends that the City Council invites experts to present about substance abuse and addiction, particularly as they impact People of Color.
The Task Force recommends that the City create a 24 hour crisis center or hotline.

The Task Force recommends that the City create a free and/or a reduced cost mental health Community Care Clinic.

The Task Force recommends that the City collaborate with Lee County Schools to increase access to free mental health care for teenagers/children within the schools by

1) Providing onsite psychologists/social workers/trained therapists that rotate between schools weekly.
2) Providing a curriculum/class that focuses on taking care of your mental health.

Goal #3: Increase access to free and affordable mental health services.

Poverty in childhood is associated with lower school achievement; worse cognitive, behavioral, and attention-related outcomes; higher rates of delinquency, depressive and anxiety disorders; and higher rates of almost every psychiatric disorder in adulthood. According to the 2019 American Community Survey, 17% of Sanford’s population is uninsured and 22% of the population is living in poverty, this creates a disparity in the ability to access quality mental health care (American Community Survey 2019).

With the African American population in Lee County earning wages at an average of almost half that of White residents, this population is disproportionately affected. Also, there is a lack of mental health providers in Lee County therefore most referrals are being made out of county. Furthermore, with no public transportation in Lee County, those affected are at even more of a disadvantage.

Figure. Age-adjusted percentage of adults with serious psychological distress, by income relative to federal poverty level and by race and ethnicity: United States, 2009–2013

- Less than 100% Federal poverty level
- 103% to less than 200% Non-Hispanic
- 200% to less than 400% Hispanic
- 400% or more Non-Hispanic white
- 17% Non-Hispanic black

1Significantly lower than for other races and ethnicities.
2Significant decreasing linear trend by poverty level.

The Task Force recommends that the City:

- Create a Livable Housing Initiative with bond issues and/or general funds to support and attract innovative affordable housing development through infrastructure funding (water and sewer, curb and gutter, streets, sidewalks, open space, parks, community facilities) in target areas of East Sanford, Washington Avenue, Woodland Avenue, and Jonesboro.

- Rehabilitate housing in target areas with a minimum of 25 substantial rehabs per year.

- Pursue an increase of at least 20% of new or rehabilitated affordable housing units each year.

- Initiate an Urban Redevelopment Area process in East Sanford to buy distressed housing stock, make repairs, and resell with covenants that protect the affordability of the home.

- Expand staff resources devoted to housing and community development to secure external funding for expansion of affordable housing stock.

- Create new mechanisms in City regulatory and development policy and regulations to encourage innovative residential development and high performance standards.

Goal #1: Expand access to housing options for historically marginalized communities.

Population growth, a rapid increase in home prices in 2021, and rising inflation present an urgent need for a comprehensive affordable housing plan. The Task Force found the need for more “workforce housing” that is affordable for people earning a range of 80% to 120% below annual median income of Lee County. The Task Force also found a need for the revitalization of current housing stock in East Sanford, Washington Avenue, Woodland Avenue and Jonesboro.

The housing and home ownership recommendations work to ensure that every individual and family in Sanford has access to a variety of safe and affordable housing regardless of race, income, or ethnicity. Recommendations aim to increase the accessibility of home ownership in traditionally marginalized communities, aiming for an increase of 50% above the current baseline (see graph) by 2030.

Establish commitments to public/private partnerships with SAGA, City Council, and other groups to achieve measurable, annual improvement in affordable, quality housing and neighborhoods.

Expand bilingual education about home-buying with an emphasis on outreach in Black and Latino communities.

Collaborate with SAGA to restart the Housing Commission.

Aggressively pursue minimum housing standards and enhance housing quality by working with owners, landlords, and property management companies.

WAGES AND INCOME

Goal #1: Promote values of diversity and inclusion in hiring and promotion of City employees.

The wages and income recommendations address the need to expand income equity, livable wages, and job mobility for working residents of Sanford. The top concern of Sanford and Lee County residents is the need for “higher paying employment” (2018 Lee Community Health Assessment). Wages and income are vital to the health and well-being of a community, impacting access to housing and home ownership, education, medical services, and many other basic needs. There are significant disparities in wages, income, and poverty levels: for example, the median household income in Sanford in 2019 was $61,250 for White residents, $46,083 for Latino residents, and $27,373 for Black residents. (U.S. Census, American Community Survey 2019 5-year estimates).

Goal 1 focuses on how the City can provide leadership for the public and private sector. The recommended strategies can build organizational capacity so that employees have the understanding, competencies, skills, and resources needed to promote values of diversity and inclusion and prevent bias in hiring and promotion. These strategies can advance City efforts to employ an equitable and representative percentage of individuals in terms of age, race, ethnicity, gender identity, sexual orientation, veteran status or ability.

The Task Force recommends that the City commit to an equity statement or resolution.

The Task Force recommends that the City create an affordable/free orientation program to City services, boards and commissions, and host the program in community spaces.

The Task Force recommends that the City engage in education and recruiting efforts for leadership and staff positions in historically underrepresented communities.

The Task Force recommends that the City use equity tools for policy and process decision making.
WAGES AND INCOME

Goal #2: Support the private sector in promoting values of diversity and inclusion in hiring and promotion of employees.

The Task Force found significant income disparities in Sanford industries. For example, in 2019, Black employees earned 39% less than White employees on a monthly basis in manufacturing. This disparity in wages has been increasing since 2000, when African Americans earned 25% less than White employees in manufacturing. In the health care and social assistance sector, Black employees earned 45% less than White employees on a monthly basis in 2019 (U.S. Census Bureau, Center for Economic Studies, LEHD).

Research finds that racial and ethnic diversity in managerial and senior staff results in higher earnings for a company. For example, one study demonstrated how companies’ earnings increased for every 10% rise in “racial and ethnic diversity on a senior-executive team” (Hunt, Layton, and Prince, 2015). Research also shows that creating diversity task forces or diversity staff positions is among the most effective methods for increasing diversity and reducing bias.

The City can promote equitable practices in the private sector of Sanford and Lee County by making tax grants to companies contingent upon proof of equitable hiring and promotion, and by seeking out collaborations with SAGA, the Chamber of Commerce, and other community stakeholders.

The Task Force recommends that City tax grants to new companies will be contingent upon proof or commitment to equitable hiring practices and racial and ethnic diversity in management and the workforce.

The Task Force recommends the City seek collaboration with SAGA and the Chamber of Commerce to convene the private sector to:

1) Create a living wage certification program that recognizes local businesses that pay employees a minimum of $15/hour.

2) Offer an Equity in Hiring online certification course for Human Resources staff of local businesses.

3) Encourage business owners to audit salaries for disparities in pay and examine whether corporate leadership includes historically underrepresented minorities.
WAGES AND INCOME

Goal #3: Enhance access to local jobs

Sanford and Lee County are experiencing strong growth in advanced manufacturing, biopharmaceutical, and other economic sectors with well-paying entry level jobs. Education and workforce training are key to Sanford residents’ access to these new jobs, and Central Carolina Community College is an important source of recruitment.

The Task Force found a significant under enrollment of Black students in the Lee County Promise Program, a free CCCC program for qualifying high school graduates: in 2019, out of a total of 98 students, only 3% were Black (52% White, 38% Hispanic) (Appendix 2). The Task Force also found an underrepresentation of Career and College Promise Advisors and high school counselors from underrepresented groups. Only 5 out of 26 guidance counselors in the Lee County Schools are Black; while none are Latino (NC Statistical Profile). The City can seek out collaborations with CCCC and Lee County Schools to expand equitable access to workforce training programs at Central Carolina Community College, leading to job opportunities in the private sector.

The Task Force recommends the City expand community awareness and engagement in the free Lee County Promise program and other CCCC educational opportunities.

The Task Force recommends the City collaborate with local businesses and churches to fund and create a STEM summer camp for elementary school students in trusted community spaces.

The Task Force found a significant under enrollment of Black students in the Lee County Promise Program: only 3% out of the total in the 2019-2020 school year.
